

Generate 2023 Awards Information & Nomination Form

Do you know someone who deserves special recognition for an outstanding achievement in the clean energy industry? Consider nominating them for a Clean Energy BC award!

CEBC presents four annual awards recognizing individuals and companies that have excelled in their field of discipline. The awards will be presented during the Generate 2023 Conference on June 12-13 at the Sheraton Vancouver Airport Hotel.

Nominations must be submitted to admin@cleanenergybc.org by May 12th 2023.

Award Categories

Environmental Stewardship & Community Improvement Award

This award recognizes exceptional accomplishments on the part of individuals or companies in contributing to environmental stewardship, sustainable development, and community improvement.

Examples of nomination qualifications include:

- a) Designing community facilities to minimize environmental impact
- b) Designing environmental or community programs
- c) Promotion of/involvement in achieving community goals

Anitra Paris Female Youth Leadership Award

This award recognizes excellence by a female youth living in BC who demonstrates leadership in the protection of the environment, and a drive to create a better world for people and nature. Applicants must be 30 years of age or younger, and will be assessed based on their commitment to the following criteria:

- a) Female youth leadership
- b) Climate advocacy (emissions related)
- c) Initiatives to create a better world
- d) Collaboration and connection (of ideas and people)

Project Excellence Award

This award recognizes excellence in project development, construction, or operations. Available to operating companies only, this award also recognizes the value of teamwork in project execution. The awards committee will measure excellence based on the quality of the accomplishment, ability to meet budget, schedule, and performance criteria. Innovation can contribute to successful project execution but is not essential criteria for this award.

Community of the Year Award

This award recognizes excellence by a community engaged in the development of clean energy in British Columbia. The award acknowledges excellence in all aspects of community engagement, including education, awareness, and involvement in a clean energy project.
